Fred. Olsen's 'Black Watch' commences 2019/20 cruise season from Liverpool, with record number of sailings

Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines' 804-guest Black Watch has commenced its 2019/20 cruise season from the Port of Liverpool, with a 28-night 'Discovering the Adriatic & Dalmatian Coast' voyage, which set sail on 13th April 2019.

Black Watch will be operating a record 22 cruises from Liverpool in 2019/20, between April 2019 and March 2020 – an increase on the 18 departures offered in 2018 – giving holidaymakers in the North West the choice of a host of exciting destinations, including Norway, Iceland, Spain, Portugal, Greenland and the Baltic.

Clare Ward, Director of Product and Customer Service for Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines, said:

“This year, our Liverpool cruise season is our most extensive and ambitious yet, which just goes to show the passion that people in and around the city, and across the North West, have for travel, and cruise in particular.

“We have an extremely loyal customer base choosing to cruise from their local, convenient Port of Liverpool. Added to this is an ever-growing number of holidaymakers discovering Fred. Olsen for the first time, taking advantage of our popular range of shorter 'taster' cruises, as well as our more adventurous explorations all over the world.”
