Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines returns to Dover this summer with selection of sailings

Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines will return to Dover offering summer cruises to destinations including Norway, Iceland, Portugal and the Azores.

Borealis will set sail on five cruises from Dover in June, July and August, offering guests the chance to take in the breath-taking views of the Norwegian Fjords, enjoy sailing events in the Baltic and spot marine life from the ship's decks.

The first to depart is the 14-night 'Maritime Cities and Sailing Events of the Baltic' cruise departing on 27th June, with the itinerary curated to coincide with the Tall Ships Race in Helsinki and Kieler Woche in Kiel as well as uncover World War Two history in Gdansk and enjoy time in Visby and Tallinn.

Clare Ward, Director of Product and Customer Service at Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines, said:

“We have offered cruises from Dover for several years, and we are thrilled to be able to return again this summer.

“These itineraries have been hand-crafted to maximise the experience of our guests on board by taking them to the very best places at the very best times.

“Throughout the summer months, guests will be able to see puffins before they migrate from Iceland, the awe-inspiring Strokkur Geyser and Goðafoss Waterfall, admire the beautiful blue hydrangeas synonymous with the Azores and take the funicular railway to the top of Mount Fløyen for a hike in Norway.

“There truly is a cruise to suit every guest.”

Sonia Limbrick, Head of Business Development for Cruise at the Port of Dover, said:

“We are delighted to be welcoming Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines back again for more calls in 2024.

“We have shared many adventures and celebrations over nearly three decades and look forward to the newest member of the fleet, Borealis, joining us this year for what I am sure will be another great chapter together.”

Guests can enjoy free drinks or free on board spend on selected cruises departing in 2024 and 2025 and booked by 31st January.
