Recreate part of the Celebrity Race Across the World route with a Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines sailing

Have you been inspired by the BBC's Celebrity Race Across the World which saw four famous pairings travel through 24 countries?

The teams started their epic journey in Marrakech, Morocco, and travelled 10,000km to reach the finish line in Tromsø, Norway.

The journey saw the pairs race through every landscape and culture that this part of the world has to offer, from the great North African city of Marrakech, through the seaside ports and beaches of the Mediterranean, to unrivalled historic and cosmopolitan cities, the Alps, unexplored Central Europe, the fairy-tale Baltic States and snowy Scandinavia.

And the best news for Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines' guests? Many of the destinations visited and routes taken are ports of call for cruises on board its fleet of three smaller ships Bolette, Borealis and Balmoral.

Clare Ward, Director of Product and Customer Service at Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines, said:

“Celebrity Race Across the World will have inspired many people to visit the 24 countries featured in the competition.

“Instead of racing against the clock, with gruelling overnight train and coach journeys, why not set sail with Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines in absolute comfort?

“From Tangier in Morocco and Propriano in Corsica to Split in Croatia and Narvik in Norway, we have something to suit everyone with countless highlights and hand-crafted itineraries curated to include unforgettable sights and immersive experiences off the beaten tourist track.”
